This is for students planning on a major that requires Math 140, 171, or 206.

With the exception of Friday, August 14, the test will be given on a first-come, first-served basis. On August 14, first priority goes to students enrolled in Engr 107.

The ALEKS Math Placement exam is an on-line exam. Before starting the exam you will get a tutorial that familiarizes you with the tools available, how answers are entered and so forth. You will need pencil and paper to work out the problems while you take this exam. This exam is individualized and uses an adaptive questioning technique to identify your current knowledge state in precalculus. You work out the problems given on paper, then enter your answers on-line.
