Title: Equidistribution of zeros of polynomials

Abstract: A classical Erdős-Turán theorem says that if a (complex) monic polynomial has small size on the unit circle and its constant coefficient isn’t too small, then all its zeros cluster near the unit circle, and become equidistributed in angle. We give a modern proof of this theorem using tools from complex analysis and Fourier analysis.